THE TRUSTEE CHECKLIST

Tick off what your board will ask.

Does it cost us anything, or put money at risk?

No cost

No. There's nothing to pay and nothing to buy. Supporters pay Kindly directly and Kindly pays you. You never collect money, hold stock or owe anything.

How much could we raise?

£1 a SIM

Are there any strings on how we spend it?

Unrestricted

None. It's unrestricted income, so it can go on core costs like rent, bills, staff and volunteer time.

What do we have to do?

Very little

Share your page, keep your details up to date and post one short update a year. Bank details are not needed at sign-up. We can only pay you once your bank details are added and checked. Until then your money is safe and keeps adding up. Payments pause when an update is 3 months late; at 6 months late your page pauses and waiting money moves to the Kindly Fund. Post within 12 months after that to get it back.

Could it affect our reputation?

Low risk

Supporters pay the normal Kindly price and nothing more, with no contract to lock them in. Kindly handles their service and support. You choose how, and how much, you share.

What about supporters' personal details?

Kindly's job

Your supporters become Kindly customers, and Kindly looks after their details under the Kindly privacy policy. You don't need to collect or hold any of their details to take part.

How do we know the money is right, and how do we record it?

Statements

Every SIM ordered through your page is linked to you automatically. Your dashboard shows SIMs and money raised, and each quarterly payment comes with a statement. Your treasurer or accountant can advise how to record it.
